Introduction.

All League of Nations documents are accessible to the public in their final form. The present catalogue contains the titles and prices of documents and periodical publications which have been put on sale up to the end of May 1935.

The headings under which they are grouped correspond to the Sections of the Secretariat from which they originate. Wherever a question has been dealt with by more than one Section, cross-references are given to enable documents to be found.

All documents, with a few exceptions, are published in both official languages of the League, French and English. As a rule important documents are published separately in each language, but in some cases both texts are printed and bound in a single volume. In the present catalogue the titles of these are indicated by an asterisk (*).

To prevent mistakes in the execution of orders, the title and number of the desired document should be stated, and also the language in which it is to be supplied. For example, an order which merely asked for publications on " Arbitration, security and reduction of armaments " would not be sufficiently clear, since there are a number of documents with that general title. In order to indicate exactly which document is wanted, the title should be followed by the number of the document.

In the case of documents which appeared before 1925 it is desirable to quote the " official number ", that is to say, the number, preceded by the letters A (for the Assembly), C (for the Council), C.M. (for the Council and States Members), C.L. (for Circular Letters), C.H. (for the Health Committee), O.C. (for the Opium Committee) and so on ; while in the case of documents which appeared after 1925—i.e., from 1926 up to the present time—it is simpler to state the " sale number ", which is made up of three separate figures, viz., a figure in thousands (year of publication), a Roman figure (denoting the Section) and a serial number. These indications are preceded by the abbreviation " Sér. P. S.d.N." (meaning " Series : publications of the League of Nations ").

An alphabetical table of contents at the end of the catalogue enables documents on any given question to be found.

This table of contents includes only subjects specified in the titles of the indexed documents. No reference is made to persons or questions dealt with in the Official Journal or the Assembly Records. This explains why there are more references under one name than another.

The League of Nations Publications Service and its agents are at the disposal of anyone desiring advice or assistance in tracing League publications not shown in the present catalogue.

Subscriptions should, as a rule, be made for six or twelve months and begin either with the January or the July issue. If ordered in the course of the year, they may start with any issue, but must come to an end with the June or the December number, so that renewals come into line with the above general regulation.

Essential Facts about the League of Nations	1/-

Written in a clear and concise style, this compendium will appeal, not only to diplomats, politicians and publicists familiar, owing to their calling, with the vocabulray of international law, but also to the general public and to anyone desiring to obtain information on any aspect of the activities carried on by the League in virtue of the Covenant in the fifteen years of its existence.

Among other things, the handbook defines the competence of each of the three principal organs of the League of Nations—namely, the Assembly, the Council and the Secretariat—and contains the essential facts regarding the organisations and commissions which are subordinate to the League or attached to it. Important chapters deal with the protection of minorities and the mandates system. An endeavour has also been made to give a general idea of the activities of the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague and of the International Labour Office. It will be seen that, despite its small size, the handbook " Essential Facts about the League of Nations " is very comprehensive.

Further on, a chronological table is given of the most important events in the history of the League of Nations, from President Wilson's message until Germany's notice of withdrawal and the more recent stages of the Conference for the Limitation of Armaments. Numerous graphs and maps have been inserted in order to ensure, wherever possible, a better understanding of the text.

The full text of the Covenant of the League of Nations is given at the end of the volume.

Treaty Series

Publication of Treaties and International Engagements registered with the Secretariat of the League

Under the terms of Article 18 of the Covenant of the League of Nations : " Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any Member of the League shall be forthwith registered with the Secretariat and shall as soon as possible be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered." The publication of the Treaty Series fulfils this condition of the Covenant.

The texts of the Treaties are published in their original form : an English and a French translation are added to these texts when they have not been made in one of these two languages.

The Treaty Series contains international engagements of all kinds : Treaties of Peace, Treaties of Commerce, chief International Conventions, adhesions to these Conventions, extension of Treaties of Commerce and Navigation, notice of Treaties, etc. This series constitutes the most complete collection published on this subject and bears, moreover, the seal of an indisputable authenticity.

N. B.—Since questions relating to the reduction of armaments, which at previous sessions were submitted to the Third Committee, are being examined and negotiated by the Conference for the Reduction and Limitation of Armaments, the 1932 Assembly decided provisionally to suspend the appointment of a Third Committee. As the Conference for the Reduction and Limitation of Armaments is still sitting, the fourteenth and fifteenth Assemblies (1933 and 1934) confirmed that decision.

COUNCIL

The Council, when the League of Nations was constituted, consisted of five permanent Members and four non-permanent Members. At present it consists of fifteen Members, six of them permanent and nine non-permanent.

Any Member of the League not represented on the Council shall be invited to send a representative to sit as a member at any meeting of the Council during the consideration of matters specially affecting the interests of that Member of the League. (Art. 4, paragraph 5, of the Covenant.)

At meetings of the Council, each Member of the League represented on the Council shall have one vote, and may have not more than one representative. (Art. 4, paragraph 6, Covenant.)

The Council shall meet from time to time as occasion may require, and at least once a year, at the seat of the League, or at such other place as may be decided upon. (Art. 4, paragraph 3, Covenant.)

The Council must meet, if necessary, in extraordinary session, at the request of any Member of the League of Nations, in the circumstances to which Articles 11, 15 and 17 of the Covenant relate.

ADMINISTRATIVE COMMISSIONS (I.A.)

Saar Basin

By the Treaty of Versailles, Germany surrendered the government of the Saar Territory to the trusteeship of the League of Nations. From 1920 to 1935, the Territory has been governed by a Commission of five members appointed by the Council of the League. This Commission was instructed to keep the League regularly informed of all questions of interest to it. It accordingly submitted official quarterly reports. In addition, it sometimes sent to the Council special reports on matters of particular interest.

PROTECTION OF MINORITIES (I.B)

The protection of minorities is one of the most delicate tasks which the Peace Treaties entrusted to the League. The subject has been widely discussed. The greater part of these debates is embodied in the " Minutes of the Sessions of the Council " (which are part of the Official Journal).

Members of the Council (one or more) have alone the right to call the Council's attention to any infraction or danger of infraction of these obligations.

The Council, when a minority question has once been brought before it by one or more of its members, may proceed in such a manner, and give such instruction, as may appear appropriate and effective in the circumstances of the case.

In the event of differences of opinion with the Governments concerned on questions of law or of fact relating to the application of the Minorities Treaties, a Member of the Council may appeal to the Permanent Court of International Justice for a decision.

The Members of the Council may be informed by petitions from minorities of such infractions or danger of infractions.

Individual Cases of Minority Protection

The Council documents containing minority petitions and the observations of the Governments concerned are not on sale by the League of Nations. The report to the Assembly on the work of the League gives a summary each year of all the minority questions examined by the Council, and the relevant documentation is annexed to the Council Minutes in question. As regards other matters, the documents published are generally inserted in the Official Journal of the League. Further, the Secretariat will publish each year statistics concerning :

(1) The number of petitions received at the Secretariat during the year ;

(2) The number of petitions found to be invalid ;

(3) The number of petitions found to be valid and submitted to a Minorities Committee for examination ;

(4) The number of Committees and the number of meetings held by these Committees for the examination of the said petitions ;

(5) The number of petitions whose examination by a Minorities Committee was concluded during the year.

FINANCIAL SECTION AND ECONOMIC INTELLIGENCE SERVICE (II.A)

The Financial Section and the Economic Intelligence Service assist the Financial Committee, the Fiscal Committee and the Committee of Statistical Experts.

The Financial Section acts as secretariat for the Financial Committee. The object of the Economic Intelligence Service is to collate, analyse and record certain categories of facts relating to human economic activity that may constitute the raw material for the work of the economist and the legislator.

Monthly Bulletin of Statistics

The MONTHLY BULLETIN OF STATISTICS of the League of Nations is the most rapid source of general information on the economic and financial development of the world. Thanks to the assistance of various Governments, it contains the most recent figures relating to a large number of countries; most of the information regarding oversea countries is sent by telegraph.

An introduction of two or three pages each month gives technical information on special statistics and on changes made by the various countries in the methods employed in drawing up the economic and financial statistics reproduced in the Bulletin. From time to time, these methods will be explained in greater detail.

The special tables and graphs (six to seven pages) relate to subjects of present economic interest, such as depreciation of certain currencies in relation to their gold parity; wholesale prices in francs, dollars and sterling; gold stocks; production of gold and silver; production indices of certain groups of industries; movement of world trade; prices of commodities; stocks of certain important goods; world's merchant marine; movement of shipping; number of bankruptcies; percentage yield of bonds; tourist expenditure, etc.

The monthly tables (thirty-nine pages) give in respect of a great number of countries the principal statistics relating to production (industrial, mining and metallurgical); railway freight traffic; imports and exports (values in gold dollars, in national currencies, trade in weight); indices of wholesale prices, cost of living and quotations of industrial shares; finance (exchange rates and prices of gold, official and market rates of discount, gold reserves, notes in circulation, deposits in commercial banks and in savings banks, capital issues); employment and unemployment.

WORLD ECONOMIC SURVEY :

Gives an account of recent events presented in a form intelligible even to the layman. It records recent economic and financial developments up to July 1934. The first chapter deals with principal events up to the end of March 1934, and the last sets out the situation at the end of July. The intervening chapters contain more detailed analyses of the main aspects of economic and financial developments dealing successively with such matters as production, prices, wages, international trade and trade policy, public finance, banking and currency questions, and the money market.

A discussion is also included of the effects of the crisis on certain fundamental aspects of the economic system : movements of population, changes in consumption, the control of production and the regulation of international trade.

Numerous statistics, often in the form of graphs, are included in support of the statements contained in the volume.

REVIEW OF WORLD TRADE :

Compares the trade of the world of continental groups and of individual countries in 1933 and in recent years; shows the contribution of each country to the total, the changes in the direction of trade and in the relative importance of the groups of commodities of which it is composed. Special attention is devoted to the trade in the most important crude materials and foodstuffs. An annex contains revised indices of the prices and quantum of the trade of individual countries.

BALANCES OF PAYMENTS :

An account of inter-State payments and the changes they have undergone in the last few years.

The synoptical chapter is amply supplied with tables showing payments on account of various transactions (interest and dividends, services such as tourists' expenditure, capital movements) for almost all important countries. Special attention is paid to recent changes in the capital and money markets (bond yields, money rates and conversion operations). A SPECIAL ENQUIRY IS MADE THIS YEAR ON THE PARTIAL BREAKDOWN OF THE SYSTEM OF TRIANGULAR TRANSACTIONS.

Further, individual chapters analyse in detail the international accounts of some thirty-three countries.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE STATISTICS :

Analyses the foreign trade during the years 1931, 1932 and 1933 of sixty-five countries accounting for 95 per cent of the total world trade; contains more than 300 tables, which are accompanied by explanatory notes. The data given illustrate strikingly the great changes undergone in recent years in the composition and direction of foreign trade and their effect on the position of the individual countries. Detailed, and in most cases comparable, figures indicate for each country total imports and exports of merchandise, bullion and specie, as well as trade by countries, by principal articles and by classes of commodities. In addition, synoptical tables show the percentage distribution of each country's imports and exports by provenance and destination.

Reports of the Fiscal Committee to the Council

The Fiscal Committee is the Council's advisory body in matters of taxation. One of its duties is to carry on the work set on foot in 1928 at the general meeting of Government Experts, whose recommendations have been taken as the basis of the vast majority of the Conventions on double taxation concluded in recent years. The Committee's activities have, in particular, led to the framing of a draft Convention concerning the apportionment of the profits of undertakings operating in several countries, which the Council transmitted to the Governments in October 1933 for comment.

Report to the Council on the Work of the First Session of the Committee, held in Geneva from October 17th to 26th, 1929. (C.516.M.175.1929.II.) (F./Fiscal/14.) (Ser. L.o.N. P. 1929.II.44.)	6d.

This report on the first session of the Fiscal Committee indicates the principal tasks which this Committee will have to undertake during the first stage of its existence. It deals notably with the principles which might serve as a basis for the taxation of undertakings engaging in business in several countries.

Second Session (Geneva, May 22nd-31st, 1930). (C.340.M.140.1930.II.) (Ser. L.o.N. P. 1930.II.23.)	9d.

This important document is the most recent publication of the League of Nations dealing with double taxation and tax evasion. The definition of the term " autonomous agent " in relation to the term " permanent establishment ", rules for the apportionment of profit from undertakings operating in several countries, the taxation of authors' rights and patents, the taxation of foreign motor-vehicles, and duties applicable to newspapers are some of the subjects dealt with in this report.

Third Session (Geneva, May 29th-June 6th, 1931). (C.415. M.171.1931.II.A.) (Ser. L.o.N. P. 1931.II.A.22.) ..... 6d.

At its third session, the Fiscal Committee continued the study of the different questions which were left unsettled at the previous two sessions. Among these questions—perhaps the most important—were, first, the Plurilateral Convention for the Avoidance of Double Taxation of Certain Categories of Income, for which two drafts had been drawn up by the Committee ; and, secondly, the rules for the apportionment of the profits of undertakings operating in several countries. The Committee's third report also covers other questions, among which should be mentioned the examination of international Conventions for the prevention of double taxation ; the fiscal clauses to be embodied in the draft Convention on the treatment of foreigners ; the taxation of foreign motor-vehicles ; the taxation of instruments of international trade ; double taxation in regard to the turnover tax ; the fiscal and Customs duties on newspapers and periodicals, and the principles enabling the double taxation of authors' rights and patents to be avoided.

Fourth Session (Geneva, June 15th-26th, 1933). (C.399. M.204.1933.II.A.) (Ser. L.o.N. P. 1933.II.A.15.) ..... 6d.

Double Taxation and Tax Evasion

The study of the problems of double taxation and tax evasion by the League of Nations falls into two distinct periods. The first covers the time from 1920, when the League, following a recommendation of the Brussels Conference, undertook to enquire into taxation questions, up to the creation of a permanent Fiscal Committee in December 1928. The second period covers the time since that date.

During the first period the programme of theoretical investigation was concluded and in October 1928 a Conference of representatives of twenty-seven Governments gave its approval to six draft bilateral Conventions designed to enable States to prevent or, at least, greatly to diminish double taxation and tax evasion. These draft Conventions have since served as models for a large majority of the actual Conventions which have been made by Governments.

The permanent Fiscal Committee, which is a subsidiary of the Financial Committee of the League of Nations, is composed of senior officials of the tax administrations of Belgium, Bolivia, France, Greece, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, the Netherlands, and Switzerland, together with private experts from Spain and the United States of America. In addition, the Committee has corresponding members in practically all countries.

In June 1933, after several years of enquiry into the subject, the Fiscal Committee of the League of Nations drew up and adopted a draft Convention against the double taxation of industrial and commercial income. The considerable data collected has been edited and published in these five volumes.

On the basis of the data accumulated, a system of equitably allocating income to prevent multiple taxation was evolved. The first three volumes supply the basic data for the study ; the fourth evaluates the existing systems and outlines a proposed unified plan ; and the fifth relates this plan to general accounting methods.

The executives, the counsel and the accountants of every concern doing business in two or more countries should in their own interests familiarise themselves with the results of this important League enquiry.

Committee of Statistical Experts

The COMMITTEE OF STATISTICAL EXPERTS was set up in 1930 in pursuance of the International Convention on Economic Statistics of 1928. Its first task was the standardisation of foreign trade statistics. It has worked out a scheme of uniform statistical nomenclature in regard to international trade which is now under consideration by the Governments. In accordance with a uniform scheme drawn up by the Committee, Governments have further been requested to supply additional statistics of their imports, arranged under countries of origin, for possible publication by the Secretariat. In addition, the Committee is engaged upon various special activities relating to price indices and production and trade statistics in regard to various commodities.

HEALTH (III)

The purpose of the Health Organisation is to promote the protection of public health by international co-operation. As an official international organisation, it does not concern itself with the internal affairs of the various countries unless they expressly ask it to do so. Its mission consists, therefore, in giving its support to the national Governments and services responsible for the protection of health and in promoting their collaboration. Its resources are such as the national Governments and institutions place at its disposal.

The Health Organisation comprises :

(1) An Advisory Council, formed by the Permanent Committee of the Office international d'Hygiène publique in Paris. This Council consists of representatives of fifty-two Governments. It prepares international conventions and proposes their adoption to Governments. It supervises the application of the International Sanitary Convention of 1926.

(2) The Health Committee, which directs the health work of the League of Nations.

(3) A Secretariat, constituted by the Health Section of the League Secretariat.

Quarterly Bulletin of the Health Organisation

The Quarterly Bulletin was founded in 1932 for the purpose of bringing within the reach of research workers the extensive documentation collected by the Health Organisation of the League of Nations but hitherto scattered in publications not easily accessible to the public, and of keeping the medical world and all those interested in public health in touch with the work of this Organisation and of its technical commissions.

This document contains data—furnished by the Health Administrations of 93 malarial countries—on the prevalence of malaria, the number of malaria cases treated during the last years and the consumption of quinine.

The enquiry has shown that only a very small proportion of malaria patients are treated and that the amount of quinine considered necessary represents double the world's annual production.

Epidemiological Publications

The Service of Epidemiological Intelligence and Public Health Statistics of the Health Section receives current official reports on the prevalence of notifiable communicable diseases from practically all countries where such information is available.

The information is published in the Weekly Epidemiological Record. The latter also contains intelligence from other parts of the world on the prevalence of plague, cholera, yellow fever, smallpox and typhus, as well as any other disease which may temporarily constitute an international menace.

The Epidemiological Report, published every second month, contains official statistics of cases and deaths attributed to the following diseases : (a) plague, cholera, yellow fever, smallpox and typhus ; and (b) enteric fever, influenza, acute poliomyelitis, diphtheria, scarlet fever and epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis. The tables for diseases of the first group are included in all issues of the Report. Tables referring to diseases of the second group appear regularly during the season of special prevalence of the diseases in question ; at other times of the year they are published at longer intervals. Statistics of certain other diseases : (c) relapsing ferver, encephalitis lethargica, miliary fever, malaria, undulant fever, dysentery, measles, whooping-cough, chickenpox, venereal diseases, anthrax, trachoma and puerperal fever, are given with a few months' interval.

Monthly or four-weekly birth, death and infant mortality rates for numerous large towns throughout the world are also published in these reports. In addition, statistics of deaths attributed to the principal epidemic diseases, tuberculosis, pneumonia, diarrhœa and enteritis in these towns and records of mean temperature and rainfall are given with some months' interval.

All statistics are arranged according to diseases, which enables the reader to obtain more readily a view of the situation regarding any particular epidemic disease in which he may be interested.

Each number of the Report contains a general review, in which the trend of one or more of the chief epidemic diseases is described, or a study of Vital Statistics.

Population figures are given in a special table. Morbidity rates are not generally shown, as they would not be comparable owing to varying degrees of accuracy in notification in different countries.

Statistics on the prevalence of the main notifiable diseases as revised by the National and Municipal Health Services at the end of each year are published in the Annual Epidemiological Report. (E.I. Series.)

SOCIAL QUESTIONS (IV)

The work of the League of Nations in the social field presents two aspects : the suppression of the traffic in women and obscene publications, and the protection and welfare of children.

The Advisory Commission for the Protection and Welfare of Children and young People consists of fifteen members appointed by the Governments which are invited, by the Council to nominate their representatives. It is divided into two Committees : (1) the Traffic in Women and Children Committee and (2) the Child Welfare Committee.

The two Committees sit annually. On each, assessors or advisory members represent the principal voluntary organisations concerned.

In the campaign against the traffic, endeavours are made to induce as many Governments as possible to ratify the conventions for its suppression. At present, forty-six States have signed the 1921 Convention. The Committee also deals with the abolition of the licensed brothel system (as recommended by the Assembly of 1934 to the Governments of States Members and non-members), the employment of women police, the penalties to be imposed on souteneurs, and the suppression of obscene publications.

In the domain of child welfare, the Committee studies every question concerning young people which the Council and Assembly think suitable for international action.

The Committee of Experts on Assistance to Indigent Foreigners and the Execution of Maintenance Obligations abroad consists of experts nominated by twelve Governments. It was set up by a decision of the Council of May 20th, 1931, and began work on December 4th, 1933.

MANDATES (VI.A)

The mandates system is a new conception in international law and a novel experiment in colonial policy. Article 22 of the League Covenant defines the governing principles.

The mandated territories are administered " on behalf of the League of Nations ", which means that the mandate is a system of administration by a responsible mandatory Power subject to international supervision.

The Permanent Mandates Commission meets twice a year in order to consider in every particular the administration of all the mandated territories.

POLITICAL SECTION (VII)

The POLITICAL SECTION's main task is to study the dossiers of the political questions brought before the organs of the League of Nations. In the case of questions presenting a legal, economic or financial aspect, the competent Sections are naturally called upon to collaborate with the Political Section.

When commissions of enquiry or investigation are appointed by the Council to examine a political question on the spot, members of the Section form part of the secretariat of those commissions.

In addition to studying the special questions submitted to it, the Political Section is required to follow the development of international political problems.

In September 1933 the Council of the League of Nations came to the conclusion that a continuous international study of general questions relating to public works, including big programmes of work financed out of national resources, would be of great value, as it would permit a comparison of the experience acquired in the different countries in regard to the effects of the execution of public works on the resumption of economic activity and on unemployment. The Council was therefore of opinion that the collection of the necessary preparatory information should be at once proceeded with.

The report adopted by the Assembly in 1933 expressed similar views. It suggested that such information would be particularly useful in order to enable Governments to judge of the possibility and desirability of pursuing, in present circumstances, a policy of carrying out programmes of public works on parallel lines. In the period of distress through which the world is now passing, this question cannot fail to be of particular interest to both public opinion and Governments in most countries.

In compliance with the wishes of the Council and Assembly, the Secretary-General has asked the Governments to send him the information required.

With the exception of some minor details, these replies are reproduced in full. It is hoped that the particulars supplied will enable Governments to decide whether it will be possible for them to co-ordinate the policies which they are severally pursuing in this matter.

This document contains the draft of an International Convention relating to transport statistics, prepared by the Committee for the Unification of Statistics of the Communications and Transit Organisation of the League of Nations, and is intended to serve as a basis for the discussion of an international conference which will probably take place in 1933. The draft Convention is accompanied by regulations relating to the statistics of transport in maritime navigation, inland navigation and by rail, and recommendations relating to administrative and technical statistics concerning these modes of transport. Lastly, there is a large number of annexes containing model tables of statistics, statistical declarations, goods nomenclatures, etc.

The body of the document is preceded by a report which gives the history of the question, and provides all the necessary explanations for the study of the texts.

DISARMAMENT (IX)

To prevent conflicts and ensure the pacific settlement of international disputes is one of the League's outstanding duties.

The Members of the League having recognised in Article 8 of the Covenant that "the maintenance of peace requires the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point compatible with national safety", one of the League's aims is thus to bring about the reduction and limitation of national armaments. The private manufacture of and trade in ammunition and war material are questions closely connected with disarmament. The publications of the Disarmament Section give an account of the efforts made in these various fields.

Armaments Year-Book

(General and Statistical Information regarding Armies, Navies and Air Forces.)

Contains particulars by countries regarding the armed forces of sixty-four different States—i.e., practically every country in the world.

The latest information, drawn from thousands of official publications of all sorts, will be found in this handbook by the student of the armaments of the different countries. It gives a general survey, combined with technical details, of the land armies, air forces, navies and military expenditure of the world to date.

The particulars regarding the separate countries are drawn up as far as possible on the same lines. For purposes of comparison, it is of course essential to bear in mind the special characteristics of the different military systems.

The successive annual editions since 1924 make it possible to follow readily the development of armaments during the past ten years.

The international agreements and Conventions concluded between different countries since the year 1817 and still in force in the matter of limitations of armaments are shown in an annex.

A second annex contains a certain number of statistical tables covering the particulars given separately under the several countries. Some of the most useful of these are a comparative table of navies, a table showing the main characteristics of armed forces, and a section giving (in gold dollars) the total sums which the world has spent on armaments between 1925 and 1933, etc.

TRAFFIC IN OPIUM AND OTHER DANGEROUS DRUGS (XI)

The question of opium and other dangerous drugs has three main aspects: opium for smoking (or prepared opium), essentially an Eastern problem ; drugs manufactured by chemical processes from opium and coca leaves ; and, lastly, the raw material supplied by countries producing the opium poppy or coca leaves.

Production, manufacture, trade, distribution, stocks are parts of the lawful machinery working throughout the world.

Side by side with the legitimate and supervised trade, there is a vast illicit traffic, encouraged by traffickers and addicts.

By its competent organs, the League assists Governments in the campaign against this traffic.

Advisory Committee on Traffic in Opium

This Committee, which is composed of twenty-five members and two assessors, represents both the producing or manufacturing countries and the consuming countries. It helps the Council of the League to exercise general supervision over the agreements regarding opium and other dangerous drugs.

Reports to the Council of the Permanent Central Opium Board

The Board set up by the Opium Convention signed at Geneva on February 19th, 1925, is composed of eight experts, who are independent of their Governments and who, by their technical qualifications, impartiality and independence, inspire universal confidence. It keeps a constant watch on the movement of the international drug market. If information it receives leads it to conclude that any country is accumulating excessive quantities of a substance covered by the Convention and is thus likely to become a centre of illicit traffic, the Committee has the right to ask the country, through the Secretary-General, for explanations and, if necessary, to recommend the Council of the League to apply certain sanctions (Articles 24 and 26 of the Opium Convention signed at Geneva on February 19th, 1925).
